Moment of discontinuity - world's reserve currency

Reserve currency rhythm

Reserve currency status has both benefits and drawbacks. The benefits are lower exchange rate risk and greater buying power, and the drawbacks are artificially low-interest rates that can spur asset bubbles. Since 1450 there have been six major world reserve currency periods.

- Portugal (1450–1530),
- Spain (1530–1640),
- Netherlands (1640–1720),
- France (1720–1815),
- Great Britain (1815–1920), and the
- United States from 1921 to today.

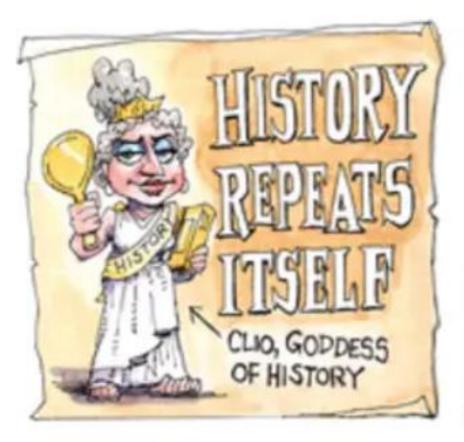

If you notice the average currency span is 94 years. The US dollar presently has been the world's reserve currency for roughly 99 years.

War and peace rhythm

Arnold Toynbee, British contemporary historian finds that major wars and peace follow a 100 years old cycle, starting with a major war lasting for about a quarter of century:

- Philip II's Imperial Wars (1568 1609)
- War of Spanish Succession (1672–1713),
- French Revolution and Napoleonic Wars (1789–1815)
- WW I II (1914 1945)

Similar pattern was found in ancient Chinese and Hellenistic history.

Are these cycles self generating?

Pick a society which is

- Never had a powerful neighbor
- Isolated from foreign influence
- No time-honored traditions
- Believes in linear progress, linear time

What would bring cyclical behavior?

Modern cultures, where people live in linear time (progress), exercise their freedom to reshape their own environment. Their innovative energy typically reflects their own lifetime experience, future generations would modify or reverse this direction.

Turnings

The First Turning is a "High." A High is a period of rising productivity, high economic growth, and widespread prosperity. Institutions are perceived to be strong and the public is unified on major policy issues. The last First Turning was from 1946-1964. It began after World War II and ended with the assassination of John F. Kennedy.

Awakening

ng 3

Crisis

"Awakening." The Awakening is a period marked by a rising sense of personal autonomy. People begin to rebel against social norms and crave cultural renewal. The last Awakening was from 1964-1984. "Beatlemania" and the counterculture movement occurred during this era.

High

Unraveling

The Fourth Turning is a "Crisis." This is an era when institutions fall and are rebuilt from the ground up. Fourth Turnings are volatile periods that alter national identities. The Revolutionary War, Civil War, Great Depression and World War II were all Fourth Turning events.

Current tensions in places like Russia/Ukraine and China/Taiwan are normal in a Fourth Turning. So are big economic shifts, which may explain why we are seeing new currencies like Bitcoin emerge.

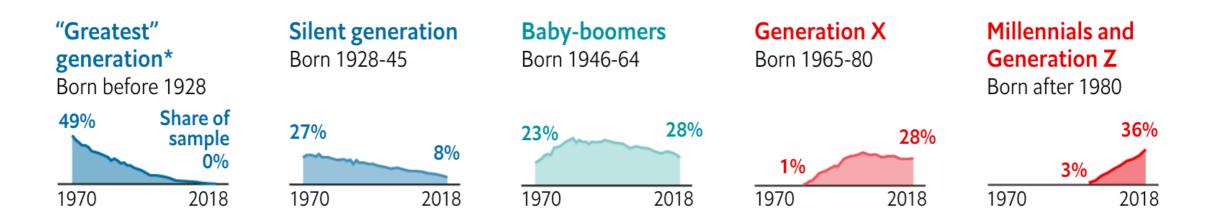

The Third Turning is an "Unraveling." An Unraveling is the opposite of a High. During this period, institutions become weaker as the public loses faith in its leadership. It is a time of broadening cynicism. The last Unraveling was from 1984-2008. It began with Ronald Reagan's commercials touting individualism using the theme "Morning in America," and ended on the eve of the Great Financial Crisis.

Generations and History

Crisis (major war):

- Children: deference to elders, good kids
- Young Adult: taking actions, taking risk
- Midlifers: organizing the country, managing
- Elders: setting strategy, provide purpose

Generations and History

Generations affected by Crisis (success):

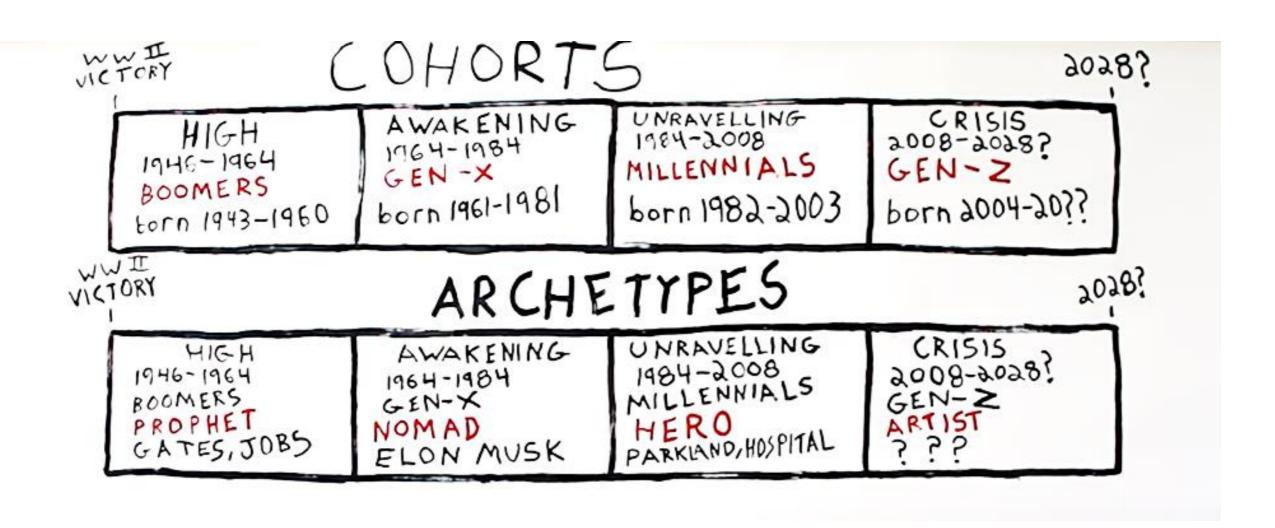

- Young adults: heroes, hybris when midlifers, more rewards as elders (GI: great society teamwork, lot of presidents)
- Children: more deferential personality (Silent: process, fairness)
- Born after GE: golden age children for whom the triumph were won (Boomers: enormous optimism, to young to recall the absence of father in war)
- Gen X: came age without heroes, war-era sense of community is forgotten.

Generations and History

Generations during Awakening:

- Children: growing up hard (vs goody two-shoes)
- Young adults: narcissists (vs soldiers)
- Midlifers: sensitive navigation (vs pragmatists)
- Elderly: defenders of rational establishment (vs moralists)

Generations have a pattern, 100-year cycle

Generational archetypes

Prophet (Idealist) generations enter childhood during a High, a time of rejuvenated community life and consensus around a new societal order. Prophets grow up as the increasingly indulged children of this post-Crisis era, come of age as self-absorbed young crusaders of an Awakening, focus on morals and principles in midlife, and emerge as elders guiding another Crisis. Examples: Baby Boomers.[57]

Nomad (Reactive) generations enter childhood during an Awakening, a time of social ideals and spiritual agendas, when young adults are passionately attacking the established institutional order. Nomads grow up as under-protected children during this Awakening, come of age as alienated young adults, become pragmatic midlife leaders during a Crisis, and age into resilient post-Crisis elders. Examples: Generation X.

Hero (Civic) generations enter childhood during an Unraveling, a time of individual pragmatism, self-reliance, and laissez-faire. Heroes grow up as increasingly protected post-Awakening children, come of age as team-oriented young optimists during a Crisis, emerge as energetic, overly confident mid-lifers, and age into politically powerful elders attacked by another Awakening. Examples: G.I. Generation, Millennials

Artist (Adaptive) generations enter childhood during a Crisis, a time when great dangers cut down social and political complexity in favor of public consensus, aggressive institutions, and an ethic of personal sacrifice. Artists grow up overprotected by adults preoccupied with the Crisis, come of age as the socialized and conformist young adults of a post-Crisis world, break out as process-oriented midlife leaders during an Awakening, and age into thoughtful post-Awakening elders. Examples: Silent Generation.
